John,

Blocks 56 and 58 were handed out in Kansas City, but these 2 respondents did not return the blocks. Since they did not complete the entire study, they are omitted from the data file.

I am showing in Dallas Carlene's project management site that block #19 was distributed and block #20 was not. I'm not sure why the file Monica sent you showed the opposite. We have received all the leftover blocks from the field sites and Monica is going to confirm which block Dallas Carlene has left over. We'll get back to you on this today.

Thanks,
Courtney

Hello Courtney,

I was reviewing the file you sent vs. a list of kit IDs used in the study that I received from Monica. There are inconsistencies between the files. Your file shows the following kits as not being assigned: 20; 39; 40; 56; 58; 60. The file Monica sent to me shows the following as not being assigned: 19; 39; 40; 60.

Please confirm and explain the discrepancy. Please provide me an accurate list of which kits have been shipped to Labstat.

I have attached Monica's file.

Thank you,
-John

Hi John,

I am attaching an Excel file containing the screener, initial visit and final visit interview data. Included in this file is a worksheet that summarizes each variable. Missing values are designated by a period. A value is missing if the respondent was not asked a particular question due to a skip in the survey.

If you have any questions about the file or need anything else, please let me know.

Thanks,
Courtney
